Notice.

Since the last appearance of the COMPANION, a change of Government has taken place in Quebec and Manitoba, while a general election has been had in no less than four of the Provinces, viz:—in Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba. There have been also many new elections to the House of Commons, owing to the operation of the new Election Law for the Dominion, under which thirty-three of the people's representatives have been unseated, rendering a fresh appeal to each constituency affected necessary in every case. The Editor has endeavoured to keep pace with these and other changes, with what success the reader must decide by referring to the pages before him. The Editor is gratified to find that the COMPANION is yearly growing more and more popular in the public estimation, a fact which is evidenced, not only by an increased circulation at home, but by a very noticeable increase of its circulation without the Canadian Union.

PART III.

Explanation of Parliamentary Terms and Proceedings.

ADJOURNMENT.—See Interruption of the Sittings of Parliament.

AMENDMENT.—See Order.

AVOIDANCE OF A DECISION.—When a motion has been made upon which the House is unwilling to come to a vote, there are certain formal modes of avoiding a decision, amongst which are "passing of the orders of the day," or "moving the previous question." The former means that the House should—casting aside and taking no notice of the matter then before it—proceed to the other business appointed for that day; the latter, that a vote be previously taken as to the expediency of coming to any decision on the question raised. If "the previous question" be negatived as a matter of expediency, the motion to which it referred is only gotten rid of for the time, whereas a direct negative to the motion itself would be a proscription of it for the remainder of the Session, as well as a denial of its principle. With respect to a Bill, moving that it "be read this day six months," or "this day three months," is a mode of throwing it out without coming to an express declaration against the principle of the measure.

Bills (Private).—Private Bills are chiefly introduced to enable individuals or bodies corporate to undertake works of public utility at their own risk, and chiefiy for their own emolument and benefit; but there are other private bills which frequently come before Parliament, such as Bills for adjusting claims to property between individual claimants, and Bills relating to divorce, naturalization, &c., &c. The expenses of legislation in such matters must be paid by the parties seeking the relief; and a deposit of $200 must be made immediately after the second reading of the Bill. After the second reading, if all the rules of the House have been complied with, Private Bills go to the Committee, and it is before this Committee that proper attention must be given by the parties interested.

Individuals or companies may appear by Parliamentary Agents.

Bills (Public).—A Bill is the draft or skeleton of a Statute. Any Bill which the Senate can originate may be introduced and laid on the table by any individual Senator without the previous permission of the House; but in the Commons, no bill can be brought in unless a motion for leave be previously agreed to. Permission having been granted, a Committee is appointed to prepare the bill. It is then brought in and read a first time, without amendment or debate, and a day is appointed for a second reading, previous to which it is printed and a copy furnished to each member. The bill, after the second reading, is referred to a Committee of the Whole House, at the sittings of which its details are considered, as its principles were at each of its several readings. Members are at liberty to discuss its principles at any of its stages, but no one is considered to have declared decisively in favor of its principles, unless by his vote he supports its second reading. In Committee, the bill is debated clause by clause, the blanks left for names, dates, nature and amount of penalties, &c., are filled up, and sometimes the bill is entirely re-modelled. The blanks, as they are called, which are usually filled up in italics, are agreed to without a question being put, unless a member should propose to alter them. The next proceeding is, that the Chairman of the Committee should make a report to the House of the changes that the bill has undergone, which he does by presenting a copy of it to the Speaker in its altered form. The report of the Committee is agreed to without discussion, the bill is ordered to be printed, and it is then read a third time, when any further amendments can be made. If a new clause be added, it is called a rider. The last question but one is that the "bill do pass;" after this nothing remains except to determine its title, which used to be a general one for all the acts passed in the session, but in modern times distinct titles are used for each statute. During the progress of a bill the House may divide on the following questions: 1st, on the second reading; 2nd, that it be committed; 3rd, on the consideration of report of Committee in case of amendments; 4th, or that the bill be recommitted; 5th, that it be read a third time; 6th, that it do pass; 7th, the title of the bill. These are quite exclusive of any division in Committee, or any amendments, or of any clauses added to or expunged from the measure in or out of the Committee. Alterations are not usually proposed in a bill until after its principle has been disposed of on the second reading. Immediately after the passing of a bill, it is taken by a member to the bar of the Senate, desiring their concurrence, where it passes through the same forms as in the Commons. If the bill be rejected, no further proceedings ensue. When the Senate agree with the Commons in the principle of the measure, but differ on matters of detail, a conference usually follows between members deputed from each House, who generally succeed in adjusting the difference; but if both Houses remain inflexible, the bill is dropped. The same proceedings are adopted mutatis mutandis, when the bill originates in the Upper House. The bill having thus passed both Houses, remains with the Senate except in the case of a bill of supply, which is sent back to the Commons, to be by them presented at the bar of the Senate to the Representative of the Sovereign. The assent of the Crown is the final proceeding which converts a bill into an Act of Parliament. (See "Royal Assent.")

Budget (The).—The Minister of Finance makes one general statement every year to the House of Commons, the object of which is to present a comprehensive view of the financial condition of the Dominion. Sometimes there are preliminary, or supplemental, or occasional speeches; but the great general statement of the year has, for a long time past, been quaintly called "the Budget," from the French bougette, by a common figure of speech, putting the name of that which encloses, to signify the thing contained. The annual speech known by that appellation embraces a review of the income and expenditure of the past year, as compared with those of preceding years; remarks upon the financial prospects of the country; an exposition of the intended repeal, modifications, or imposition of taxes during the session; and a detail of the public expenditure during the current period with its grounds of justification.

CABINET.—The Government of a State or community is understood to signify the exercise, of supreme authority, and includes the executive, the legislative, and the judicial powers; but in popular acceptation it means only the first of these, the higher and more immediate functions of which are exercised by the Cabinet, a select body through whom, for the time being, the principal functions of royalty are discharged.

It is only since the adoption of the system of Responsible Government that any of the B.N.A. Provinces has had a Cabinet of Ministers. Before this took place, those who advised the Executive or Her Majesty's Representative, were called, as they were in fact, Members of the Executive Council. They are here dignified by the same name as that by which they are acknowledged in the Parent State—they are called the Government, when the fact is that this word only applies to the three Estates which constitute the Government; but we have come into the use of the term usually employed in England, and as such it will be best to use it. When speaking of the Supreme Government of the Dominion, the people understand the Members of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada in office. The Queen's Privy Council for Canada is at present composed of thirty-nine members, but twenty-six of these are not of the Cabinet. It usually includes all those who are bound to retire when a change of Ministry takes place. The Privy Council being more immediately responsible for the conduct of public affairs, their deliberations are always considered confidential and are kept secret. The head of the Cabinet, who has been entrusted with its formation, is called "The Premier," but more properly "the head of Her Majesty's Canadian Government." The Cabinet as it stands at present, comprises the following officers :—"The Minister of Justice and Attorney-General;" "The Minister of Militia and Defence;" "The Minister of Customs;" "The Minister of Finance;" "The Minister of Public Works;" "The Minister of Inland Revenue;" "The Minister of the Interior;" "The Minister of Marine and Fisheries;" "The President of the Queen's Privy Council;" "The Postmaster-General;" "The Secretary of State of Canada;" "The Minister of Agriculture;" and "The Receiver-General." They usually resign when they have lost the confidence of the House of Commons, or they may be dismissed by Her Majesty's Representative, and either House can, by address to the Governor-General, ask for the dismissal of his Cabinet or advisers. The members of the Cabinet or Administration, are supposed to agree upon principles of policy and legislation, and are expected to co-operate in Parliament, upon all matters and questions not specifically agreed upon as "open questions." The office of Premier may be held in conjunction with either of the principal departments of State, though heretofore, (before Confederation), it has been usually associated with the office of Attorney-General.

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery,—The Clerk of the Crown in Chancery is by right an officer of both Houses of Parliament. His duties are to take charge of all the Poll Books and Election documents; to issue Writs of Election, &c., attend with those at the table when so ordered by the House; and at the closing of each session of Parliament to read aloud the title of each several Bill before it receives the Royal assent by her Majesty's Representative. We reproduce from Macqueen's Appellate Jurisdiction of the House of Lords that portion which refers to the duties of this officer in England:—"The duties of the Clerk of the Crown do not now, as heretofore, require his constant attendance in the House of Lords. He assists when the Royal assent is given to Bills; but has no concern with the business of the Appellate Jurisdiction. In an ancient manuscript, preserved in the office of the Clerk of the Crown, the following particulars are given respecting this ancient officer:—The Clerk of the Crown sitteth in the Upper House of Parliament, by the Clerk of that Court upon the Woolsack, attending there all the Parliament, and is sometimes sent on messages to the Lower House; and on the last day of the Parliament he readeth the Acts, and the Clerk of the Parliament giveth the King's answer; where it is to be noted that all the time of Parliament, he sitteth on the right hand of the Clerk of Parliament, and when he readeth the Acts, he standeth on his left hand, which is the higher place, being on the King's right hand."

Clerk of the House of Commons.—"The Clerk of the Commons House of Parliament" holds an office of great trust and importance. He, with two assistants, sits at the upper end of the table. The Crown appoints him by commission under the great seal. It is his duty to make minutes, not of the arguments held in the House, but of the decisions at which it arrives—in other words, to make a true and faithful record of all the proceedings in which it may be engaged; to see that they are correctly printed and distributed to the members; to read aloud all such documents as the House may order to be read; to perform the duty (without taking the chair) of president or moderator during the choice of a speaker, putting a question and directing a division in the same manner that a speaker would do.

Committals.—In common with courts of law and equity, the Houses of Parliament can punish all contempt of their authority, or disobenience of their mandates. Each House is armed with power to repress any aggression committed upon its rights, or any interference with its privileges; but in the case of the Commons the operation of this power is limited to the session of Parliament; committals by that House being invalidated by a prorogation. Either House can delegate to a committee the power of sending for papers and records, and of enforcing the attendance of necessary witnesses.

Committees.—Are, first, those of the Whole House, which may be to consider certain resolutions, as to the nature of which considerable latitude prevails; or the House resolves itself into such Committee, to consider the details of a bill, the principle of which may be discussed at any or all of its other stages; or there may be Committees for financial purposes, as those of "Supply," or "Ways and Means" (which see).

Secondly, there are Select Committees chosen by ballot or otherwise, for some specific purpose—the number composing such bodies seldom exceeds fifteen members, except by permission of the House. Thirdly, Committees on Private Bills (which see.) When the Whole House is in Committee, the Speaker vacates the chair, the Mace is placed under the table, and some other member is called on to preside, who sits in the seat of the Clerk of the House.

Conference.—This is a species of negotiation between the two Houses of Parliament, conducted by managers appointed on both sides, for the purpose of producing concurrence, in cases where mutual consent is necessary; or for the purpose of reconciling differences which may have arisen. If the conference be upon the subject of a bill depending between the two Houses it must be demanded by that House which is in possession of the bill, at the time of asking the conference. It is the sole privilege of the Senate to name the time and place for holding a conference, no matter by which House it may have been demanded. Reasons in writing for the course resolved to be taken, are usually furnished to the managers on both sides, in which case it is simply called "a conference." Should this proceeding fail, a "free conference" must be held, which gives an opportunity for the managers individually, and unrestrained by any precise form of argument, to urge such reasons as, in their judgment, may best tend to influence the House to which they are addressed. A free conference is usually demanded after two conferences have been holden without effect. After one free conference, none other but free conferences can be held touching the same subject.

Crown.—In speaking of the Crown the reader must remember that the attributes and powers are exercised in Canada by a Representative—viz., the Governor-General. Its attributes are :—

To give or refuse to bills "The Royal Assent;" to cause the laws to be duly administered and executed; to act in behalf of the whole community in its intercourse with other countries, (but the Representative of the Crown can neither declare a war nor conclude a peace; this power cannot be delegated); to direct the Naval and Military forces within the limit of his Administration; to administer the Public Revenue; to prorogue or dissolve Parliament. The Queen's Representative, in appearing for the Crown, represents the source of justice and mercy, confers office, honors, and emoluments; but in the same manner as the Monarch acts by Ministers who are amenable to the Imperial Parliament, so the Representative in Canada acts by Ministers who are responsible to Parliament, and the choice of those Ministers is the only prerogative which can be constitutionally exercised without responsible advisers; but even in this, Parliament, or rather the People's Representatives, exercise the controlling power; for the appointment of such Ministers by the Crown's Representative can have no practical effect, unless it rests upon men whose characters and measures prove generally acceptable to the House.

Estate of Parliament.—Parliament fully assembled, consists of the Monarch, or his Representative, the Upper House and the Lower House. They are more frequently spoken of as the three branches of the Legislature. Neither House deliberates in the presence of the Queen's Representative, nor will either of them permit any allusion in debate to the opinions or sentiments entertained by him. The three branches taken together exercise none but legislative functions, and they must all consent or no law can be passed. But they have separate functions as well. The Monarch, or Representative, holds the whole Executive authority, and while the Lower House alone can originate Money or Tax Bills, the Upper House is deprived of this power. Nor does the Upper House possess the great function of trying impeachments, which is held by the Lords in Great Britain, from the simple fact, we presume, that there is no power invested with the right to impeach. But we will speak of each one separately:

House of Commons.—The Speaker takes the Chair at 3 p. m. daily. If there be a quorum, the business is proceeded with; if not, the House is adjourned to the next day, at 3 p. m. Early meetings take place shortly before the termination of the Session, in order to expedite business and bring matters to a close; the House does not usually meet on Saturday, nor does it assemble on any holiday. No one can be admitted to hear the debates without an order from the Sergeant-at-Arms, which is generally obtained through a member. Twenty members, including the Speaker, constitute a quorum.

The Senate.—The time for the ordinary meeting of this House is at 3 p.m., unless some other time shall have previously been ordered.

If a quorum is not present at thirty minutes after the time of meeting, the House is adjourned until the next sitting day. Fifteen members, including the Speaker, constitute a quorum. The Speaker of the Senate is an officer appointed by the Crown.

INTERRUPTION OF THE SITTINGS OF PARLIAMENT. —The proceedings of the Legislature may be interrupted or suspended either by adjournment, prorogation, or dissolution.

Adjournment, as the term itself implies, is a postponement of the sittings or proceedings of the House, from one time to another specified for the re-assemblage. When the sittings of both Houses are interrupted by Royal authority, it is called prorogation. Dissolution puts an end to the representative character of the individuals who, at the time, compose the House of Commons, and Parliament cannot therefore assemble until after a new election, except in cases hereinafter mentioned. The power of adjournment is a right belonging to each House, and there are no restraints to this power.

The House of Commons can interrupt or postpone any debate, defer the consideration of any measure, or altogether adjourn its sitting, but the practice is always to adjourn to some stated time; and we think there can be no doubt that, by the previous permission of the House, the Speaker can leave the Chair for a certain number of hours; but this does not amount to an adjournment, and could not be noted as such by the Clerk. But it must be remarked that the adjournment of one House does not adjourn the other. The Crown may, pending an adjournment, summon by Proclamation either House or both, and may direct either or both Houses to adjourn to any particular day. But while this power exists, and although in former times it has been frequently exercised in the Imperial Legislature, it has grown into desuetude there, as well as in the Provinces enjoying the privileges of their own local Legislatures.

An individual member may for a time interrupt the progress of business by successive motions for adjournment, which may be repeated indefinitely, with this restriction; no second motion to adjourn can be made until after some intermediate proceeding shall have been had. The motion in committee, that the chairman report progress, is equivalent to a motion to adjourn the debate.

Adjournment does not close the session; nor does prorogation terminate Parliament. The former is an act which either House can perform; the latter is a power vested in the Crown, the duration of which may be subsequently shortened or extended as the Crown pleases. All unfinished business terminates and dies with a prorogation, but during an adjournment they remain in statu quo, to be revised on the re-assembling of Parliament. A member who moves the adjournment of a debate, or who is in possession of the floor at the time of the adjournment, is said to be in possession of the House with the right to reopen the debate which has been interrupted. This is not the case, however, when Committees of the whole House adjourn. Prorogation never extends beyond forty days, but it may be repeated from time to time by proclamation, and continue to be renewed until it is intended that Parliament shall meet for the despatch of business. The Crown can summon Parliament at any time by giving fourteen days notice. Dissolution is the simple death of Parliament, and may be brought about in two ways, either by the pleasure of the Crown, or by lapse of time for which it was called into existence. There was a time when the existence of a Parliament terminated by the demise of the Crown, but a special law removed this provision of the Constitution. But there is no power in the Constitution by which a Parliament in Canada can be extended beyond five years. If Parliament, at the time of the Sovereign's death, be separated by adjournment or prorogation, it must assemble immediately, or within a reasonable period. If no Parliament be then in existence, the members of the last must again meet, and may serve as a Parliament for six months, unless sooner prorogued. By the British North America Act 30 Sec. it is provided that "there shall be a session of the Canadian Parliament, once at least, every year, so that twelve months shall not intervene between the last sitting, etc."

Law Clerk.—It is necessary to mention this officer in particular, because the Rules of the House assign to him and the translators under him certain duties which must be performed, to ensure correct legislation. He is appointed by the Crown. It is laid down as the duty of the Law

Clerk to revise all public bills after their first reading, and to certify thereon that the same are correct; and in every subsequent stage of such bills, the Law Clerk shall be responsible for the correctness of said bills, should they be amended. The responsibility is increased by the fact of all Bills having to be printed in both languages, English and French, before they can be disposed of.

MINISTER (PRIME).—See Cabinet.

MINISTRY.—See Cabinet; also Executive.

MONEY BILL.—See Supply; also Ways and Means.

ORDER.—By this word is meant an obedience to certain rules and regulations intended to facilitate the despatch of business, and preserve that necessary decorum so essential in all deliberative assemblies. The rules by which the business of Parliament is conducted are of two kinds; one class the House possesses in common with all deliberative assemblies—another is peculiar to its own existence and powers. For the proper application of all these rules, the Speaker or Chairman's decision is had, and to this decision due deference is at all times paid. The Speaker, while in the Chair, takes no part in the debate, it being his duty to regulate the manner in which business shall be transacted; to confine those members who address the House to the subject under consideration; to give his opinion in all things which relate to order; to put the matter in dispute into the form of a question upon which the votes of members are taken, and to declare the majority as soon as it is communicated to him by the Clerk. It is also his duty to declare the business of the House closed, and to see that the affairs of the House are correctly and properly recorded. After routine he calls upon the member whose motion stands first on the paper of notices, or who is otherwise entitled to precedence. All motions must be seconded, or they fall to the ground; being seconded, the motion is handed in writing to the Speaker, who has to read it before debate can be had upon it—having been read, objections may be urged. There are several ways by which a motion may be opposed; it may be met by a direct negative, or by an amendment, or by a motion to postpone or by proceeding to the next order of the day, or by moving the previous question, or by the simple motion of adjournment. A motion once read cannot be withdrawn without the permission of the House. If must not be forgotten that unless a speech is made objecting to a motion, neither mover nor seconder can speak a second time except in explanation. If, however, a debate does arise, in which an opposition is given to the mover of a motion, he has the right of reply; but it must be understood that this privilege does not belong to the mover of an amendment. All are permitted to explain. The debate being ended, the Speaker or Chairman puts the question, and calls upon those in favor to say "Yea," and those of a contrary opinion to say "Nay." He then declares that in his opinion the "Yeas" or the "Nays" (as the case may be) have it. If his decision is questioned, the House divides, the "Yeas" rising and their names being taken down; the "Nays" following; the numbers are counted from the record, and declared. When an amendment has been moved, the vote is simply taken on the amendment, and then on the original question. Should the amendment be adopted, it then becomes the substantive motion, and may be amended in the same way that the original motion was amended.

Thus a number of successive amendments to the original motion may be disposed of. Any member is at liberty to interrupt auother by "rising to order," which means that he rises in his place and calls the attention of the Chair and the House to a breach of the orders then being committed. In the debate it is contrary to order to mention any member by name; the same rule prevails in Committee of the Whole, except as regards the Chairman, who is sometimes called by his name, and not Mr. Chairman.

Originating Bills.—All Bills relating to public income and expenditure, and all Bills usually called Money Bills, must originate in the Commons, and be introduced by the Government.—(See Bills.)

Parliamentary Agents.—In England all the business transacted for private Corporations and individuals is attended to by what they call Parliamentary Agents, who are parties generally well up in the practice of Parliament, and who take off a great deal of the drudgery from Members. Parliamentary Agents are now employed in Canada, and are a very useful class of men. Being up in their business, they do not annoy the Members, nor neglect the interests they have in charge.

PETITIONS.—There are several regulations which govern the presentation of Petitions to Parliament, which should be attended to by those who are interested. Petitions to the House of Commons should be addressed to "The Honorable the Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled." The petition must be respectful, the statement of grievance or cause of complaint must there be set forth, and the whole must conclude with a specific prayer. Without a prayer to the petition, it would not be listened to, as the mere complaining for the sake of complaining will never be countenanced by Parliament, and the correct form is, after having alleged your complaint, to finish by connecting it with the prayer, beginning, "Wherefore your humble petitioner, &c., prays, &c., setting forth the redress and relief that is sought. Signatures to petitions must be original; no agent should sign a petition to Parliament for any purpose. No chairman can sign for a public meeting, but the common seal of a corporation is received as the petition of the whole body. All petitions must be in respectful and temperate language; they should not animadvert upon conduct of the Parliament, the Courts of Justice, or constituted authorities. It is not proper to make reference to any motion or subject under debate, or to a motion in the course of preparation. After presentation, all petitions undergo a close inspection in the Clerk's Department, and when the time comes for receiving them, the Speaker offers such remarks as their nature calls for. In England there is a Committee on Public Petitions, which takes this duty from the Speaker, and it appears to work well, for they frequently find it their duty to report the substance, and frequently the exact words of a petition to the House, and not unfrequently recommend such action to be taken as the case suggests.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.—See Avoidance of a Decision.

PRIVILEGES OF PARLIAMENT.—There are three kinds. 1st, The privileges which appertain to members individually. 2nd, Those which belong to the House in its collective capacity. 3rd, Those which belong to the two Houses jointly.

It is unnecessary that we should here discuss the points of privilege which appertain to the two Imperial Houses conjointly on the subject of assuming the supreme power of the realm. Amongst the privileges which the Commons claim are:—

The power of committing individuals to prison —the power of publishing matters which, if not issuing from such high authority, might become the subject of proceedings in a Court of Law—the power of directing the Law Officers of the Crown to prosecute persons accused of offences against the laws, or affecting the privileges of Parliament—and finally of doing anything not directly contravening an existing Act of Parliament, which may be necessary for the vindication and protection of its own rights, in the exercise of its constitutional functions. Questions of privilege take precedence of all other proceedings, and are always in order. The privileges claimed by individual members are—freedom of speech and person, including freedom from legal arrest and seizure under process from the Courts of Law and Equity. This does not extend to indictable offences or to actual contempts of the Courts of Justice. Members of Parliament are exempt from all duties, the performance of which might interfere with their prompt attendance to their Parliamentary calls. Privilege of Parliament, such as it is, continues for a convenient time after prorogation and dissolution.

PROROGATION.—See Interruption of the Sittings of Parliament.

QUESTION.—See Order.

ROYAL ASSENT.—The Act by which the Crown agrees to a Bill is called the Royal Assent; this assent is usually given at the end of a Session, unless there is urgent necessity for the Act becoming law without loss of time, in which case the Governor-General, or the person administering the Government, comes down to the Upper House, and there, in the presence of both Houses, gives his assent. When this is done, either at the close of the Session or on a special occasion, the Governor-General being seated on the throne the House of Commons is summoned to the bar of the Upper House; being there, the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery reads the title of the Bill, hands it to the Chief Clerk, who says in both English and French: "In the name of Her Majesty the Queen, His Excellency the Governor-General sanctions this Bill." His Excellency specially manifests his assent to the Supply Bill. Bills to which the Royal assent is not given are pronounced to be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure thereon, and are mentioned in the "Official Gazette" as having been reserved for Her Majesty's consideration. Unless a reserve is made in the Act itself, so soon as the Royal assent is given, the Act becomes a Law, and can be proceeded on before any competent Court. In England, sometimes the Royal assent is given by Commission but in a Colony such an event has never taken place, although there can be no doubt that the Governor-General has power to appoint a Commission to give this Royal assent.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.—This officer, although in attendance on the House of Commons, is appointed by the Crown. It is his duty to obey the commands of the House, to apprehend and take into custody all those who are committed for any offence by the House. All the messengers and servants of the House, except the Clerks are under his orders. He has a seat at the Bar of the House, and directs all arrangements for the maintenance of order in the approaches thereto, and in the galleries. He is of course in immediate attendance upon the Speaker, from whom he takes all orders connected with his duties. He is assisted by a Deputy.

SESSION.—The Session is the term occupied by Parliament from its commencement to its prorogation. An adjournment does not close a Session. Parliament is annually assembled for the despatch of business. There are certain important Acts which are renewed every year, and without which the Government could not be carried on, which compels the Government to meet the Representatives of the people, and render an account of the past year's transactions once a year at least. Unless this be done, there will be no supplies. By an understanding, Parliament meets in the month of February, although circumstances sometimes arise to postpone the time. While the Crown has a right to summon Parliament where it pleases, it is generally understood that it assembles at the Seat of Government. The House being assembled the Governor General commands the attendance of the members of the Lower House at the Bar of the Upper House, and delivers a Speech from the Throne. This Speech is the first subject taken into consideration; no other business is commenced until the answer to it is given. As is stated elsewhere, the mere fact of one or both Houses adjourning does not terminate the Session; it can only terminate by being prorogued by the Crown. All bills and other measures left unfinished, when the prorogation takes place, are dead, and parties who wish to revive them must recommence their labours at the next Session, as if nothing had been done in the premises. The mere assembling of members does not constitute a Session,—one Bill, at least must pass both Houses, and receive the Royal Assent, before it can be called a Session.

Speaker.—Beyond all doubt this officer was designated Speaker, from the fact of his being the spokesman of the Commons, in their intercourse with the Crown. He is the presiding officer of the body. He reads all communications which come from the Queen's Representative to the Commons; he has to present and read such addresses and petitions as are carried up to the Governor-General by the Whole House, and to deliver the usual speeches, on the part of the Commons, when presenting the Supply Bill, and other Bills calling for peculiar note and remark,

Through him, all witnesses and prisoners at the Bar of the House are examined, and he directs all arrangements, when the House is to be addressed by Counsel. It is his duty to deliver the reprimand of the House to any one who has incurred the penalty of receiving it; it is also his duty to issue warrants of committal or release for breach of privilege, to communicate with any parties, when so instructed by the House. It is his duty to closely examine the provisions of private Bills so as to protect the public against any suprise, or undue encroachment or injury; to control and regulate the conduct of subordinate officers of the House; to enforce the Rules of the House; he cannot join in any debate unless in Committee of the Whole House. As the presiding officer of the House, he has all the duties attached to such an office. The Speaker is chosen by the members of Parliament, and holds his office until the Parliament in which he is elected is dissolved. Should a member persevere in disobeying the order of the Speaker and of the House, the Speaker may "name him," as the term applies, a course uniformly followed by the censure of the House. In extreme cases, the Speaker may order members or others into custody until the pleasure of the House be signified.

On divisions, when the numbers happen to be equal, he gives the casting vote, but he never otherwise votes.

Supply.—All proceedings which relate to the public income or expenditure must originate with the Commons, and must be begun by resolution moved in Committee of Supply, which is always Committee of the Whole House. In the course of the Session, estimates are submitted to a Committee of Supply, and resolutions moved thereon, granting to the Crown the sums requisite for the management of the various departments of the Government, and the support of various public and private institutions. Such as are confirmed by the Committee of Supply are reported to the House, where they are again reconsidered and adopted, or rejected as the case may be. Upon these, a Bill is passed, and this Supply Bill furnishes authority to the Government for disbursing the various sums appropriated. The Upper House may reject this or any other Money Bill, but they cannot alter or amend the substance of a Supply or Money Bill; such a course would be regarded as an invasion of the privileges of the Lower House. Before any Bill can be introduced authorizing the expenditure of any public money, resolutions must be moved in Committee of Supply, agreed to there, reported and confirmed by the House.

Three Months (This Day)—See avoidance of a Decision.

Ways and Means.—As the Committee of Supply relates to the expenditure of the country, so the functions and duties of a Committee of Ways and Means have reference to the funds by which such expenditure is to be met. Loans, duties, taxes, excise and revenue of every description, are submitted to the Committee of Ways and Means. The propositions of Government on this subject are reduced to resolutions, submitted, considered and decided on, and such as are agreed to are reported to the House. Those which may be adopted are embodied in a Bill or Bills, and in due course and form become the law of the land. As in supply, the Upper House may reject these Bills, but cannot amend them, nor can the Upper House insert a pecuniary penalty in any Bill.

"An Independent Liberal, prepared to give a general support to the Government, so long as they fairly fulfil their pledges, and show themselves fairly adequate to their great task; believes that the basis of the franchise should be widened and that efficiency instead of influence should be the passport to the public service; thinks political progress essential to political vitality, and advocates the fullest freedom of discussion on all topics affecting the public interests; supports the adoption of a system of proportional representation, whereby, among other improvements, the strength of the various opinions held by the people may be more nearly represented in Parliament; considers that, as the franchise is not merely a right but a trust, the wilful neglect to vote should be followed by temporary disfranchisement; is opposed to the appointment of Senators for life by the administration, and desires their selection for a term of years by the Provinces; thinking that the future of Canada depends very largely on the development of the great North-west, advocates the construction, as rapidly as the resources of the country will permit, of the sections of the Pacific Railway necessary for communication between that country and our interior seaboard, in conjunction with an extensive scheme of exploration and colonization; believes that the cultivation of a national spirit is requisite to the success of the Union; that the present form of connexion between England and Canada does not possess the elements of permanence; that as the child grows into the man, so the State will come to maturity; and that (notwithstanding the enormous difficulties which surround the scheme), there is a possibility and hope of reorganizing the Empire on a Federal basis, so as to reconcile British connection with British freedom."—Grosvenor St., Toronto; National Club; Toronto Club; Rideau Club.

always since been exempted. He first suggested the invitation to the Queen to visit Can.; and the feasibility of a postal arrangement between England and the U.S., for the carriage of the Am. mails by Can. packets. As a strong Conservative he opposed the introduction of the elective principle into the L.C., Can., and was one of a small minority who opposed that measure in all its stages; he also opposed the secularization of the Clergy Reserves, and when that step was determined on, he was mainly instrumental in securing for the Eng. clergy the rights which were reserved to them. He carried the address to the Queen for the removal of the disabilities which prevented synodical action in the Church of Eng.; and he prepared and carried through its early stages, the Church Synod bill, and when the bill was reserved for the Royal Assent, he remained several months in Eng. to obtain the Queen's sanction. Favors the Brown-Thornton Reciprosity Treaty. Voted against Col. Bowell's motion for expulsion of Riel. Being one of those who are never afraid to express their opinion so that every one may know what they will do, he has no hesitation in saying that he is a pronounced friend to Independence, not that he is in any hurry, as he is satisfied with things as they are, but he thinks things are progressing—we are nearing our majority. He is not for compulsory voting, nor can he see the use of representing minorities, as he believes party government to be the best. He is entirely opposed to the Confederation of the Empire, which he thinks a great delusion got up by adventurers who can see good things for themselves in it; he sees nothing in it but the minification of Canada, enormous increase of expenditure, the degradation of every Canadian who would be sent to Eng., to sit on one side like a school-boy, with 700 or 800 others with whom he had no possible business to interfere, until a Colonial question—(connected with Canada, or a matter of war, or a universal epidemic) should come before the House. What he would do with himself in the meantime would take a very clever person to explain."—"Sandfield Place," Besserer St., Ottawa; Whitby, Ont; Stadacona Club.

our tariff by enlarging the free list of raw material, and by reducing the inequality between the duty of fifteen per cent. which we levy on imported manufactures, and that of sixty per cent. by which we are repulsed from the American frontier, and it would be just to those investing in our manufactures that the faith of Government should be pledged that such a tariff should not be lowered for a specified term of years. Believing that any change in our relations with the Mother Country in the direction of independence would not only not be for our good, but very much to our detriment, he will strenuously advocate the maintaining of the existing relations between the Dominion and the Empire."—"St. Duthus House," Dunelg, Woodstock, Ont.; Rideau Club.

A Liberal, and "heartily endorses the policy of the Govt., as contained in Mr. Mackenzie's address to his constituents, and will give the Govt. an honest and hearty support so long as it continues to administer the affairs of the Dominion on the principles laid down by him. Is in favor of the trial of elections by Judges; an election law so stringent as will make bribery or intimidation impossible; simultaneous polling; income franchise; vote by ballot; the abolition of the real estate qualification for members; and all measures that will tend to make Parlt the true representative of the people, and prevent it from being corruptly influenced by the Executive; of the enlargement of all the canals at the same time and of the building of a new one through Canadian territory at Sault Ste. Marie, so that we may not be dependent on our American neighbours for ready access to Lake Superior and the North-west at all times during the season of navigation. Will advocate the continuance of the present Insolvent Law, and a careful remodelling of the tariff, so as to give such protection to our native industries as will enable them to compete successfully with the cheaper labour of foreign markets. Believes that the building to the Pacific Railway, or so much of it as will give us ready access to British Columbia at the earliest possible moment, is of vast importance to the trade of the Dominion."—East King St., Hamilton.

POLITICAL ADDRESSES AND PARTY "PLATFORMS."

The following article first appeared in the Journal des Trois Rivières, on the 20 April, 1871. It is now included in this part of the COMPANION at the urgent request of several subscribers.

PROGRAMME CATHOLIQUE.

LES PROCHAINES ELECTIONS.

"Notre pays, soumis au régime constitutionnel, aura dans peu de temps à choisir ses représentants. Ce simple fait soulève nècessairement une question que notre devoir de journalistes catholiques nous oblige de de résoudre, et cette question doit se poser comme suit :

"Quelle doit être l'action des électeurs catholiques dans la lutte qui se prépare, et quelle doit être leur ligne de conduite dans le choix des candidats qui solliciteront leurs suffrages ?

"Nous croyons pouvoir répondre à cette question d'une manière satisfaisante en donnant quelque développement aux idées exprimées par Sa Grandeur Mgr. l'Evêque des Trois-Rivières dans sa dernière Lettre Pastorale.

" Voici les lignes que nous y trouvons :

" Les hommes que vous envoyez vous repré" senter dans la Législature sont chargés de
" protéger et de défendre vos intérêts religieux,
" selon l'esprit de l'Eglise, autant que de pro-
" mouvoir et sauvegarder vots intérêts temporels.
" Car les lois civiles sont nécessairement en
" rapport sur un grand nombre de points avec la
" religion. C'est ce que les Pères du Concile
" disent clairement dans leur décret.

" Vous devez donc vous assurer prudemment
" que le candidat à qui vous donnez vos suf" frages est dûment qualifié sous ce double
" rapport et qu'il offre, moralement parlant,
" toutes les garanties convenables pour la pro" tection de ces graves intérêts.

" Nous devons sans doute rendre grâce à " Dieu, de la pleine et entière liberté que la
" constitution de notre pays accorde en droit au
" culte catholique de se régir et de se gouverner
" conformèment aux règles de l'Eglise. C'est " par un choix judicieux de vos législateurs que
" vous pourrez vous assurer la conservation et " la jouissance de cette libertè la plus précieuse

" de toutes, et qui donne à vos premiers pasteurs
" l'immense avantage de pouvoir gouverner
" l'Eglise du Canada selon les prescriptions et " directions immédiates du Saint-Siége et de " l'Eglise romaine, la mère et la maîtresse de
" toutes les églises."

" Ces conseils, dictés par la sagesse, seront compris, nous l'espérons, par tous les électeurs catholiques de la province de Québec. Il est impossible de le nier, la politique se relie étroitement à la religion, et la séparation de l'Eglise et de l'Etat est une doctrine absurde et impie. Cela est particulièrement vrai du régime constitutionnel qui, attribuant au parlement tout pouvoir de législation, met aux mains deceux qui le composent une arme a double tranchant qui pourrait être terrible.

" C'est pourquoi il est nécessaire que ceux qui exercent ce pouvoir législatif soient en parfait accord avec les enseignments de l'Eglise. C'est pourquoi il est du devoir des électeurs catholiques de choisir pour leurs représentants des hommes dont les principes soient parfaitement sains et sûrs.

" L'adhésion pleine et entière aux doctrines catholiques romaines en religion, en politique et en économie sociale, doit être la première et la principale qualification que les électeurs catholiques devront exiger du candidat catholique. C'est le criterium le plus sûr qui devra leur servir à juger les hommes et les choses. On comprend qu'il ne peut être ici question des protestants auxquels nous laissons la même liberté que nous rèclamons pour nous-mêmes.

"Ces prémisses posées, il est facile d'en déduire des conséquences qui serviront de guide aux électeurs. Mais pour établir des règles pratiques, dont l'application soit facile, il faut tenir compte des circonstances particuliére où notre pays est placé, des partis politiques qui s'y sont formés et de leurs antécédents.

"Nous appartenons en principe au parti conservateur, c'est-à dire à celui qui s'est constituté le défenseur de l'autorité sociale. C'est assez dire que par le parti conservateur nous n'entendons pas toute réunion d'hommes n'ayant d'autre lien que celui de l'intérêt et de l'ambition personnelle,mais un groupe d'hommes professant sincèrement les mêmes principes de religion et de nationalitè, conservant dans leur intégrité les traditions du vieux parti conservateur qui se résument dans un attachement inviolable aux doctrines catholiques et dans un dévouement absolu aux intérêts nationaux du Bas Canada.

"Dans la situation politique de notre pays, le parti conservateur étant le seul qui offre des garanties sérieuses aux intérêts religieux, nous regardons comme un devoir d'appuyer loyalement les hommes placés à sa tête.

"Mais ce loyal appui doit être subordonné aux intérêts religieux que nous ne devons jamais perdre de vue. Si donc il existe dans nos lois des lacunes, des ambiguités ou des dispositions qui mettent en péril les intérêts des catholiques, nous devons exiger de nos candidats un engagement formel de travailler à faire disparaître ces défauts de notre législation.

"Ainsi, la presse religieuse se plaint avec raison que nos lois sur le mariage, sur l'éducation, sur l'érection des paroisses et sur les régistres de l'état civil, sont défectueuses en ce qu'elles blessent les droits d l'Eglise, gênent sa liberté, entravent son administration ou peuvent prêter à des interprétations hostiles. Cet état de choses impose aux députés catholiques le devoir de les changer et modifier selon que Nos Seigneurs les Evêques de la Province pourraient le demander afin de les mettre en harmonie avec les doctrines de l'Eglise catholique romaine. Or, pour que les députés s'acquittent plus diligemment de ce devoir, les électeurs doivent en faire une condition de leur appui. C'est le devoir des électeurs de n'accorder leurs suffrages qu'à ceux qui veulent se conformer entièrement aux enseignements de l'Eglise relativement à ces matières.

"Concluons donc en adoptant les règles générales suivantes dans certains cas donnés.

"1o Si la lutte se fait entre deux conservateurs, il va sans dire que nous appuierons celui qui acceptera le programme que nous venons de tracer.

"2o Si, au contraire, elle se trouve engagée entre un conservateur d'une nuance quelconque et un adepte de l'école libérale, nos sympathies actives seront pour le premier.

"3o Si les seuls candidats qui s'offrent à nos suffrages dans une comté sont tous libéraux ou oppositionnistes, nous devons choisir celui qui souscrira a nos conditions.

"4o Enfin, dans le cas où la contestation serait engagée entre un conservateur rejetant notre programme, et un oppositionniste quand même l'acceptant, la position serait plus délicate.

"Voter pour le premier, serait nous mettre en contradiction avec la doctrine que nous venons d'exposer. Voter pour le second, serait mettre en péril ce parti conservateur que nous voudrions voir puissant. Quel parti prendre entre ces deux dangers ? Nous conseillerions alors l'abstention des électeurs catholiques.

"On comprend néanmoins que ces règles posées laissent encore aux électeurs une certaine liberté d'action qui dépendra des circonstances particulières de chaque comté et des antécédents de chaque candidat. Au reste, nous avons tenu à mettre surtout en évidence les convictions et les qualifications religieuses que les électeurs doivent exiger de ceux qui sollicitent leurs suffrages. Il est utile d'ajouter que pour faire prévaloir leurs convictions religieuses il faut chez les députés l'intelligence et l'instruction. Après s'être assuré des principes religieux des candidats, il faudra donc en second lieu s'efforcer de faire parvenir en chambre la plus grande somme possible d'intelligence et d'instruction.

"Nous réprouverions donc toute action ministérielle qui tendrait à éliminer de l'arène parlementaire des hommes capables de rendre service à la cause catholique et nationale, sous le prétexte qu'ils gêneraient quelques ambitions. Composer la représentation de nullités dociles et impuissantes serait certainement un grand mal qu'il faut éviter.

"En deux mots, nous voulons sauvegarder à la fois l'honneur de la Patrie et la liberté de l'Eglise, et tout notre programme peut se résumer dans ce motto : " Religion et Patrie."

CUSTOMS CIRCULARS.

The Customs Circulars for 1872 related to:—Customs Circular No. 93, January 31*st*, 1872—Ordered that all invoices of Littlefield and Chamberlin's "Wood Screws," dated since December 27th, 1871, filed with the old discount of sixty per cent., must have added to them a value for duty of twenty-four per cent.

Customs Circular No. 94, 12th February, 1872, states that by the decision of the Treasury Board the article of "Shoddy" properly "Shoddy Wool" is liable to a duty of 14 per cent. ad val.

Customs Circular No. 95.—In consequence of complaints from Clifton and other frontier ports all collectors were ordered to return all manifests by mail, immediately, after the goods they represent have been secured by the Collectors; the Collectors affixing the official stamp as well as signature.

Cirular No. 96 decides that "Bristol's Sarsaparilla," and all similar compounds containing spirits, are subject to a duty under the present tariff at the rate of $1.20 per gallon, with an ad volorem duty of 15 per cent. on bottles and packages; and the Department having ascertained that these articles have been entered at several ports as proprietary medicines at 25 per cent ad val., the Minister of Customs instructs Collectors to allow whatever stock of the above may remain in bond, to be entered for duty at the said ad val. rate of 25 per cent., but that all future importations must pay the specific duty of $1.20 per Gallon, and 15 per cent. on bottles, &c., or unless an alteration is effected in the law.

Customs Circular No. 97, March 18*th*, 1872—Recites, that there has been diversity of practice at different ports respecting the item of marble, as to admitting it free of duty. The circular goes on to recite, that there are two classes of marble mentioned in the act; the first being "blocks" which means all pieces capable of subdivision, by sawing into two or more slabs of not less than two inches thick, and such slabs to be entitled to free entry, must not have undergone any process of manufacture beyond the terms of the Tariff, viz: "sawn on two sides only." All "blocks" specially shapen such as round, octagon or tapering, being subject to the ad valorem duty of 15 per cent. The second class is described as "slabs," and may be defined as oblong or square pieces not over inches thick, not specially shapen, which must have undergone no process other than sawing, and having at least two edges rough—the term "edges" applying either to the sides or ends; and it should be remembered, that any planing or other preparation for the manufacture of "Head Stones," "Mantle Pieces," &c, render such "slabs" liable to ad volorem duty of 15 per cent. I am, Sir, your obedient servant. R. S. M. Bouchette, Commissioner of Customs.

Customs Circular, No. 98, March 27, 1872.—Provides for a system of glass seals, for the security of bonded and unaccustomed goods, carried in the cars of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railway Companies.

Customs Circular No. 100. May, 5th, 1872—Informs Collectors that "Foundry Facings" are alleged to have been admitted free of duty at many ports of the Dominion under the name of "Black Sand;" and state that "the Sand" mentioned in Schedule C. of the Tariff, is a natural while the "Foundry Facings" is manufactured from "Sea Coal," "Charcoal," "Plumbago," and other minerals, and is legally liable to duty at 15 per cent. ad. valorem as unenumerated.

Customs Circular No. 101, May 12*th*, 1872—Informs Collectors that it is not considered necessary that they should be required to compile and forward annual import returns.

Customs Circular No. 102 May 27*th*, 1872—Advises with directions the sending of Sealed Locks to be substituted for Bar and Shackle Locks for the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways, with directions for use.

Customs Circular No. 106, June 21*st*, 1872—

States that by Order in Council on the exportation of "Needles" which have paid duty on importation to be used with "Sewing Machines" manufactured in the Dominion, the duties so paid on the Needles shall be refunded, when the Sewing Machines are exported from Canada together with such imported Needles. I am Sir, your obedient servant, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner of Customs.

Customs Circular No. 107, August 17*th.*—Referring to Circular No. 9.., on the subject of discount on Littlefield and Chamberlin's "Wood Screws" states that a further reduction from fifty to thirty per cent. has been allowed by that firm, and stating that his reduction is equivalent to an advance upon the net cost of the screws of forty per cent. The duty is to be collected accordingly.

Customs Circular No. 108, 6*th November*, 1872—Orders Collectors, in consequence of the difference of opinion at several different ports of entry respecting "Calf Skins," or "Kip," to charge 15 per cent. ad valorem on calf or kip, weighing less than 50 lbs. as being unenumerated, and 19 per cent ad valorem on calf or kip, weighing 50 lbs or more per dozen, such skin being generally known in trade as upper leather, and as such chargeable with the lower duty under the Tariff. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

Customs Circular No. 109, 2*nd December.* 1872—Refers to the sending of returns to the Department.

Customs Circular No. 110, 7th December, 1872—An order of the Governor General, in Council, dated 14th May last, having reference to the mode of establishing or computing the Tonnage of Foreign Vessels entering or clearing at any of the ports in this country, and subject by law to the payment of tonnage dues when so entering or clearing, has ordered and directed that such tonnage dues shall be levied and collected upon the tonnage of such Foreign Vessels, as computed in accordance with the Rules laid down in Part 2 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854—that is to say in accordance with the British Measurement of such tonnage, and you are therefore to be governed hereafter by the Rule so laid down, should you not already have adopted it, in the collection of tonnage dues at your port. It will therefore be your duty to cause Foreign Ships trading at your port subject to the payment of tonnage dues, to be measured under the Rules prescribed by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, referred to; but whenever such ships have been previously measured at any port in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and that satisfactory evidence of that fact shall be produced to you, you are to be governed by the British measurement so shown to have been made. I have also to call your attention to the fact that certain Foreign Countries have adopted the British mode of computing the tonnage of ships, you are not called upon to remeasure the ships of such countries, but that you are to be governed by the Tonnage as shown by the Registries of such ships. The only countries so far, that have adopted the Rule of Measurement laid down by the Imperial Merchant Shipping Act, are Denmark and the United States of America, official notice of which has been given to the Government of Canada, and is now communicated to you for your future guidance in such cases. I am, Sir, your obedient serr . ıt, R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

Order in Council, Decem r 24th, 1872—Orders in conformity with the ovisions of the Act of last Session, that from ai after the first day of January next, a duty ten per cent. is authorized, and it is to be c lected on Tea and Coffee imported into Canada from the United States.

INDIAN LANDS.

THE Office, having the management of Indian Affairs offers to those persons—and to those only—who agree to become

Actual Settlers,

The principal part of the Indian Surveyed Lands,—thus encouraging the Agriculturalist and shutting out Speculators. The three chief localities are:

The Saugeen District,

In which about 260,000 Acres remain disposable. The Agent for their Sale is Mr. WM. PLUMMER, Indian Office, Toronto. Between 30 and 40 miles of Colonization Roads have already been made for the purpose of affording access to the disposable land, and by grants from Indian funds to the several Township Municipalities, various leading new Roads affording readier access to the lands have been either opened or improved.

On the Great Mantioulin Island, Lake Huron,

There are about 258,000 Acres still for sale. The Agent is Mr. I. C. PHILIPS, Manitowaning; between 40 and 50 miles of Road have already been made, and the recent erection of Grist and Saw mills on the Island afford the Settlers increased advantages. The third locality is the Reserve on Batchawana and Goulais Bays and the Township of Macdonald, Near Garden River. The Agent, is Mr. WM. VAN ABBOTT, who resides at Sault. Ste. Marie. These lands comprise about 184,000 Acres. A line of Road through the larger Reserve has been surveyed, and so soon as that portion of the Road passing through Public Lands, of which it forms a continuation, is completed, the grading up to the southern boundary at the Reserve is intended to be put under contract.

INSPECTION OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES, AND GAS.

The Acts XXXVI. Vic., Caps. 47 and 48, will go into operation on the 1st of July, 1875, under the proclamation published in the Canada Gazette of 26th December, 1874.

After that date all duties of Excise heretofore computed by the old Wine gallon will be computed—as provided in the Acts above cited—by the Imperial gallon, and the rate of duty per Imperial gallon, will be as follows:

On Spirits, subject to 75 cts. per Wine gallon, 90 cents per Imperial gallon.

On Petroleum, subject to 5 cents per Wine gallon, 6 cts. per Imperial gallon.

On Beer, brewed from other material than malt, $3\frac{1}{4}$ cts. per Wine gallon, 3 and nine-tenths per Imperial gallon.

It will be observed that, in accordance with the provisions of the law, the rate of duty per Imperial gallon is arrived at, by adding one-fifth of the rate per Wine gallon.

Quantities stated in Wine gallons may be reduced to Imperial gallons by deducting one-sixth, or the quantity stated in Imperial gallons may be reduced to Wine gallons by adding one-fifth thus :—

20 Imperial gallons = 24 Wine gallons.
24 Wine do = 20 Imperial do.
